"Shannon O'Dell's passion for the rural church in America is contagious. The vision to see the small church reach multitudes through partnerships with other churches is a move of God, and Transforming Church in Rural America, is right on the wave of God's plan."

- Craig Groeschel, Senior Pastor of LifeChurch.tv

"Pastor Shannon O'Dell is the Paul of the 21st Century. He recognizes exactly how God gives talents and gifts and then as a pastor, he taps into those talents and gifts just as God intended. This should be required reading for every seminary student whether a pastoral student or not, and for every church leader in the world, especially, for rural pastors. It is high time rural pastors double check to make sure they are called by God and not on some resume building mission."

Transforming Church in Rural America Sparks Additional Campus Locations

Quitman, TX - As a result of Transforming Church in Rural America, a new campus location for Brand New Church was started in Quitman, TX. This community was much like the small town of Bergman, AR, where Shannon and his family serve. Because of similar circumstances another campus was born to a remote, rural community that desired to know Jesus and give Him their best in all aspects of church life.

Along with the new campus in Quitman, an additional campus in Farmington, Arkansas will open in January 2011!
